Olds Orations

R J Cutten has just finished a new coal shed east of the Victoria Hotel.

A J Samis was up from Calgary on business last Tuesday.

The new Bank of commerce building on 4th street is now nearing completion as far as the exterior is concerned and it is showing up fine and will be a credit to both the town and bank.

Mr Phillip Hawkins, proprietor of the Olds Livery Stables and Miss Laura Smith were married in Calgary the first of the week. Their many friends extend congratulations and wish them success thru life.

Mrs J Duff returned from a trip to Calgary yesterday.

Miss Margaret Hall was taken to the hospital at Calgary for treatment last week; it is reported that she is improving.

The new C P R section house is now nearly ready for the finishers.

Bills are now posted here for a grand ball in Bowden on Fair Day Wednesday 28th in McCue's hall.

The Juvenile Bostonians will be at the Opera House Olds the evening of October 21st; they are a first class organization and should be well patronized.

Olds is now having splendid weather, real true Sunny Alberta fall weather.

Mr S P Newcom has sold his house on Railway Ave.

Methodist "at Home"

In response to the invitation of Rev and Mrs F E Davies a large company of members and friends of the Methodist church assembled in McCue's Hall last night where an enjoyable evening was spent.

Rev Davies presided and kept the people in constant merriment with his good humor. After prayer by Rev Chalmers a splendid program of music and song was rendered after which refreshments were served.

In a brief address Rev Davies expressed his desire to draw the people closer together and to create deeper interest in church life. He was delighted to see the increased attendance at the Sunday service and hoped that the people would maintain their interest. Both he and Mrs Davies would do their best for the Bowden circuit and felt sure that all present would be loyal in their support.

The following program was rendered to an attentive and appreciative audience.

Pianoforte solo, Miss Jessie Shenfield. Sacred song, Mrs and Miss Powell. Humorous reading Mr S Gunn. Song, "Golden Love" Mrs Lowe. Song, "The Song That Reached My Heart," Mrs S Butler. Song "The Japanese Love Song" Mrs Davis. Recitation "If I Were a Man" Mrs Davis. Recitation, Miss Cowan. Song "Annie Laurie" Mr Colwell. Song "Just for Today" Mrs Keith. Recitation "The Alarm" Miss G Deihl. Song "Queen of the Earth" Mr Keelson of Calgary. Recitation, Mr Don Sheldrick. Song "At Two O'clock" Mr Walton, sr.

The rendering of the several items by Mrs Keith Mrs Davies Miss Cowan and Mr Don Sheldrick was good and well received by the audience. Mention should also be made of the gramophone selections by Mr Perrin. Miss Jessie Shenfield proved an able accompanist throughout the evening.

Real Estate Exchanges

Mr C J Sorensen purchased Mr Arthur Webb's farm on Wednesday last week. Criss Sorensen sold his farm at Castor lately purchased from Mr Bernard.

The old News office has again changed hands. It was sold last week to Mr C A Jackson by Mr C J Sorensen.

Mrs M Baird traded her house here for Mr Woodman's farm at Moose Mountain. H C Powell transacted the business and closed the deal.

H C Powell last week sold for Mr Leslie Leach his house here in town to Mrs J Garrock of Lacombe.

Local News

Bowden Fair September 28th.

Tony Miller of Red Lodge is around again after his recent illness.

Mr A Louhead is slowly improving we hope to see him around at the fair.

This week the race track has been put in first class condition for the races on the 28th. Mr O W Chamberlain will receive your entries for the events.

A binding and stooking competition has been added to the sport events at the fair. Prizes will be awarded for hand binding and stooking twelve sheaves of grain.

The directors of the Agricultural Society will appreciate any service members may be able to give on Monday and Tuesday afternoon in placing tents and prearranging the grounds.

A "Harvest Home" will be held in St Mathew's church Bowden on Sunday next at half past two in the afternoon. Don't forget the date September 25th. The Rev. McLean Banting will officiate.

Rev F E Davis will preach in the Methodist church this Sunday afternoon at 3:00 p.m. A cordial invitation is given to all. At the close of the service the Sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered.

Saturday evening last Mr C J Sorensen returned from Calgary with his new benzine waggon. It is a new thirty-two horse power two cylinder, touring car of the Great Western make. Mr Alf Woodward was the chauffeur.

Mr Deihl, secretary of the band wishes to state that the band have made no engagement with either the Turf Club or the Agricultural Society. They are playing for both parties on the 28th, gratis, dispensing music first at the fair grounds and afterwards at the driving park.

Rev Davies intends holding a week night meeting in the parsonage every week during the winter months. These meetings will be made attractive by solos papers and addresses on bible topics, and will be open to all who like to come. Fuller particulars will be announced in the News next week.

This week Mr J Cornish is having the bar and rotunda of the Brewster House remodelled. An office is also being added. For the past two months the hotel has been taxed to the limit catering to the commercial trade, and is keeping up its reputation as one of the best hostleries along the C & E line.

Presbyterian church service next Sunday will be as follows:

Red Lodge at	11:30
Eagle Creek at	3:00
Bowden at	7:30

Sacrament of the Lord's supper will be dispensed at Bowden in the evening. Everybody welcome; subject will be "The Mistake of Judaism."

The death occurred on Saturday September 10th at Red Lodge of Mr Fredrick Miller an old settler here. Mr Miller was 78 years of age and emigrated to the States from Denmark 1841 where he lived till coming here in 1901. A grown up family of nine are left to mourn his loss with his bereaved wife. The funeral was held on Monday to the cemetery here Rev Chalmers officiating.

A very successful "Tea" was held in Bowden last Friday evening under the auspices of the Woman's auxiliary of the English church. The ladies desire to express their hearty thanks for the loyal support they received, and look forward with sincere pleasure to the meeting of the same friends at their next tea and bazaar. After the expenses were paid the amount realized was twenty-five dollars.

NURSING SISTERS AT CAMP.

Canada Is Now Equipped Like Armies of the Older World.

Canadian girls, like their sisters everywhere, get the reputation of having a weakness for brass buttons. For instance, at a dance, what chance has a sable-clad civilian where there are military waltzing? So far in Canada this feminine admiration for things militant has been only passive; which is to say that the girls of the Dominion have been largely content to be mere spectators of the splendours of military pomp, sometimes it is true being carried away by the glitter, and then expressing their effervescent spirits as smart cadets in amateur theatricals or at the college masquerade. Till this year in Canada there were no real soldier girls—live soldier girls who could reel off the Militia List and gossip volubly of the summer camp.

June, 1910, is somewhat of a memorable date in the history of military Canada; six girls went to Niagara camp in full regalia—and for once the dashing captains in their proud plumage were not the heroes. There were heroines—Nursing Sisters Morris, Leischman, McGiffin, Daymon, Hammel and Hatch. On the pretty blue uniforms are shoulder straps, and the brass buttons on the epaulettes indicate that each of the young ladies is dignified with the rank of lieutenant during her stay in camp.

The Nursing Sisters are attached to the Army Medical Corps. Bringing them to camp—that was a step in advance for the corps, another example of the progress which has characterized the militia during the past ten years; which has substituted the Army Service Corps for the bull-beef contractor, and organized the Army Medical Corps in place of the regimental doctor and his slim, black bag, turning the whole Canuck army from a crudity into a system.

"What useful purpose is served by bringing trained nurses to a summer military camp?" the sceptic will ask. Talk to Col. Fenton, C.O., Field Ambulance No. 10. He will dilate upon the advantage of the nurse with military experience.

"Nursing experience to be found in summer camp?" you say. "Pshaw!" Then the colonel and his assistants will quietly laugh at your incredulity, and tell you how dead wrong you are.

This year there were eleven days of Niagara camp. Now for the casualty list. In that period out of 4,000 soldiers, 129 sick and wounded were cared for by the Nursing Sisters. The maladies ranged from indigestion and gunshot-wound down the list to colds and pneumonia.

One case of appendicitis was recorded—quite notable, for the victim for the first time in the Canadian military history was operated on, and successfully too, in the open air.

What of the hospital equipment at Niagara? Eight tents comprised the hospital, each tent a ward containing six beds. The capacity of the hospital was, therefore, 48 patients and the maximum was well averaged during the eleven days. There was an operating tent and a diet tent. The wards were regularly patrolled, diet sheets were kept, records of the patient, his progress and treatment, were set down. In fact the canvas institution was a city hospital in epitome—one difference; the ozone flapped through the tent wards, chasing away the odors of the apothecary.

The innovation of the Nursing Sisters at Niagara camp was a distinct success. It is understood that the Militia Department have it under consideration to invite more trained nurses from the big hospitals to the summer camps throughout the Dominion. This policy would bear fruit in case of active service; the girls who have learned the routine of the regimental lines would then be able to superintend the operations of the military hospitals which would be established.

A Versatile Soldier.

Chartered accountant, graduate in agriculture, traveler, athlete and soldier, Lieut.-Col. James George Ross is one of the most all-round men in Montreal, where he was born in 1861. He has seen long service in the Canadian militia; beginning with the Ontario Field Battery at Guelph in 1879. At that time he was plugging up agriculture at the O.A.C. Just after he got his degree of B.S.A. from Guelph he took a trip to far-away Manitoba—about the time the C.P.R. was poking a nose into the province. After an extensive tour in the West he returned to Montreal and went into accounting in his father's office. At the same time he linked up with the Victoria Rifles; became identified with all the athletic and club life there was in Montreal—as well as much of its financial development, being soon at the head of his deceased father's firm. Snowshoe runner, life member of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, expert canoeist, crack player of Britannia Football Club—particularly on snowshoes, however, he made a name, having several medals and records on the wickers. But always interested in the militia, he went from the Victoria Rifles to the 5th Royal Highlanders, of which in 1909 he became lieutenant-colonel.

The first New Testament printed in English was the work of William Tyndale, an Englishman. It was done at Worms, in Germany, in 1525. The first complete printed English Bible, attributed to Miles Coverdale, was printed in 1535, probably at Zurich, in Switzerland.

It Cost $40.00 For Doctor's Visit

On Alberta's Prairies—DR. CHASE'S Medicine and Receipt Book Very Popular Out There.

The luxuries of city life are little known in the prairie homes of Western Canada. When sickness comes people find it necessary to depend on their own resources to a great extent on account of the difficulty and expense of a doctor's visit.

By reading the letter quoted here you will form some idea of how Dr. Chase's Medicines and Receipt Book are appreciated in Alberta. This is not only due to the convenience of having these medicines on hand when occasion requires but is also owing to their wonderful reliability.

Where will you find such a restorative treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to enrich the blood, strengthen the nerves and build up the run down system?

Mr. Geo. Clay, Oxville, Alberta, writes: "I have always been a great admirer of Dr. Chase's Medicines and have had his large Receipt Book for over twenty years. His medicines and book have saved me many doctor bills and have proven wonderfully effective. It costs $40.00 for a doctor to come out here so it is rather expensive to get sick.

"I recommended Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to a friend of mine for his wife. He studied the symptoms in Dr. Chase's Almanac and found she needed Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore her worn-out nervous system. I gave him some of this medicine until he could get to town when he got two boxes more and these cured her entirely.

"For myself, I used Dr. Chase's Catarrh Powder with splendid results. For some time I was bad with catarrh and could not breathe through my nose. Now I go to bed and never wake all night, and breathe all the time through the nose."

Dr. Chase's Medicines are for sale by all dealers or Edmansons, Bates & Co., Toronto.

The Open Season

Last week we received a letter from the Chief Game Guardian at Edmonton requesting us to correct through our columns an erroneous statement in the Manitoba Free Press, which has led the public to believe that the open season for prairie chicken and partridge opened on September 15th. The season is open during the month of October only. Sportsmen are limited to twenty birds each daily two hundred for the month. In no case is anyone allowed to buy or sell any of the birds at any time.

He Liked Our Station

While the Editor was at Bowden last week he was struck with the attractive appearance of the C P R station and station grounds. The manner in which both are cared for is both a credit to the company and to the town. While it is a well known fact that the company is in hearty sympathy with everything which tends to the beautiful, yet there is no doubt that much of the credit is due the local agent at that point. Gadsby's handsome new station is now nearing completion and our own Mr. Tallman has a tidy and decorative eye in his head. This together with the sympathy of the company and the good will of the town should tend to make the station and grounds one of Gadsby's beauty spots.—Gadsby Gazette.

The Man From Brodney's

By GEORGE BARR
M'CUTCHEON

Copyright, 1908, by Dodd, Mead & Co.

The remainder of the men in the party, fourteen or fifteen in all, were of many castes and nationalities and of various ages. There were brown skinned fellows from Calcutta, a couple of sturdy Greeks, an Egyptian and a Persian, three or four Assyrians and as many Maoris. As to their walks in life, among them were clerks and guards from the bank, members of the native constabulary, Indian fakirs and showmen and vendors of foreign gew-gaws.

Bowles, his thin legs still shaking perceptibly, although he strove mightily to hold them at strict "attention," was the spokesman. A valiant heart thumped once more against the seams of the little red jacket. If his hand trembled and his voice shook it was because of the unwonted exertion to which both had been put in that stirring flight at dawn.

"For some time we have been preparing for the outbreak," he said, "tingering the glass of brandy that Britt had poured for him. 'Ever since Chase began to go in so noticeably for the ladies—ahem!'"

Chase glared at him. The others tittered.

"I don't mean the old story, sir, of the Persians, and I'm saying, sir, what's more, there wasn't a word of truth in it—I mean the ladies of the chateau, begging pardon too. Von Blitz came to me often with complaints that you were being made a fool of by a pretty face or two and that you were going over to the enemy body and soul. When I heard that they tried to kill you the night before last I made up my mind that no white man was to be left to tell the tale. Last night we locked all the company's books in the vaults, got together all the bank notes and gold we had on hand and made preparations to go on board the steamer when she called this morning. My plan was to tell them of the trouble here and try to save you. We were all expected to die of the plague—that's what we were—and I realized that Tommy Atkins was off the boards forever.

"We hadn't any more than got the cash and valuables ready to smuggle aboard when down came itasula upon us—10 o'clock last night, your lordship. He had a dozen men with him, and he told every mother's son of us that our presence in the town was not desired until after the ship had sailed away. We were taken up into the hills by a squad of men. There wasn't a man among us that didn't know that we were to be killed as soon as the ship had gone. With our own eyes we saw the mail bags rifled and nearly all of the mail destroyed. The pouches from the chateau were burned. Itasula politely informed us that the plague had broken out among the chateau servants and that no mail could be sent out from that place. He said he intended to warn the ship's officer of the danger in landing, and—well, that explains the short stay of the ship and the absence of nearly all mail from the island. There won't be another boat for three weeks, and they won't land because of the plague. They will get word, however, that every one in the chateau has died of the disease and that scores of natives are dying every day."

"Well, we decided to break away from the guard and try to get to the chateau. It was their intention to take some of us back to the bank this morning to open the vault and the safes. That was to be our last act, I fancy. About 4 this morning a dozen of the women came up to where we were being held. They were flying from the town and ran into the arms of our guard before they knew of their presence. It seems that those devils down their bad set out to kill their women because it was known that one of them had warned Mr. Chase of his danger. During the excitement brought about by their arrival in our camp we made a sudden attack upon our guards. They were not expecting it, and we had seized their rifles before they could recover from their surprise. I regret to say that we were obliged to kill a few of them in the row that followed. You let us in just in time. My word, it was a close shave."

"It's an ill wind that blows all evil," said Deppingham. "Mr. Bowles, you are welcome. We are a bit short of able-bodied soldiers. May we count on you and the men who came with you?"

"To the end, my lord," said Bowles, almost bursting his jacket by inflation. The others slapped their legs stanchly.

The arrival of the refugees from Ararat gave the chateau a stanch little garrison of sixty men.

"For the time being we are as snug as bugs in a rug," said Deppingham when all was over. "Shall we rejoin the ladies, gentlemen?" He was as calm as a May morning.

The three leaders found the ladies in the shaded balcony, lounging lazily, as if no such thing as danger existed. Below them in the grassy courtyard a dozen indolent Persians were congregated, lying about in the shade with all the abandon of absolute security. The three women in the balcony had been watching them for an hour, commenting freely upon these creatures from another world. Neenah, the youngest and prettiest of them all, had waived kisses to the proud dames above. She had danced for their amusement.

Neenah had waived kisses to the proud dames above.

Lady Agnes waved her hand lazily toward the group below, sending a mocking smile to Chase. "The Asiatic plague," she said cheerfully.

"The dance!" broke in her husband, not catching her meaning. "Has it really broken out?"

"Deppy, you are the dumbest creature I know!" exclaimed his wife.

Chase smiled broadly. "She refers to the newly acquired barem, Lord Deppingham. We're supposed to die with the Asiatic plague, not to—not to—"

"Not to live with it! Ho, ho, I see, by Jove!" roared Deppingham amiably. "Splendid! Harem! I get the point. Rippling!"

"They're not so bad, are they, Bobby?" asked Lady Agnes coolly, going to Browne's side at the railing. It may not have been true that Browne was in love with Lady Deppingham, but it was more than evident that his wife felt convinced that he was.

"Splendid!" was the sudden exclamation of Drusilla's vagrant lord. The others looked up, interested. "Say, everybody, Lady Agnes and I have hit upon a ripping scheme. It's great!"

"To better our position?" asked Deppingham.

"Position? What—oh, I see. Not exactly. What do you say to a charity ball, the proceeds to go to the survivors of the plague we're expected to have?"

The princess gave a quick, involuntary look at Chase's face. Browne's tall fellow countryman was now leaning against the rail beside her chair. She saw a look of surprised amusement flit across his face, succeeded almost instantly by a hard, dark frown of displeasure. He waited a moment and then looked down at her with unmistakable shame and disapproval in his eyes.

"We might just as well be merry while we can," Browne was saying. "Think of what the French did at the time of the commune. They danced and died like ladies and gentlemen. And our own forefathers, Chase, at the time of the American Revolution—remember them too. They gave their balls and parties right under the muzzle of British cannon. And Vicksburg—New Orleans, too—in the civil war! Think of 'em! Why shouldn't we be as game and as gay as they?"

"But they were earnest in their distractions," observed Deppingham, with a glance at his wife's eager face. "This could be nothing more than a travesty, a jest."

"Oh, let us be sports," cried Lady Agnes, falling into an Americanism readily. "It may be a jest, but what odds? Something to kill time with."

"I don't like Mr. Browne," whispered Geneva suddenly. Chase did not reply. She waited a moment and then went on. "He is not like Deppingham."

Do you understand?"

Lady Deppingham came over to them at that instant, her eyes sparkling.

"It's to be tonight," she said. "A fashionable charity ball—everything except the newspaper accounts, don't you know. Committees and all that. It's short notice, of course, but life may be short. We'll have Arab acrobatics, Persian dances, a grand march, electric lights and absolutely no money to distribute. That's the way it usually is. Now, Mr. Chase, don't look so sour! Be nice, please!" She put her hand on his arm and smiled at him so brightly that he could not hold out against her. She caught the touch of disapproval in Geneva's glance, and a sharp, quick flash of rebellion came into her own eyes.

"What is a charity ball?" asked Geneva after a moment.

"A charity ball is a function where one set of women sit in the boxes and say nasty things about the women on the floor, and those on the floor say horrid things about the women in the boxes. It's great fun."

"Charity is simply a hallucination, then?"

"Yes, but don't mention it aloud. Mr. Britt is trying with might and main to prove that Bobby and I have hallucinations without end. If I happen to look depressed at breakfast time he jots it down—spells of depression and melancholia, do you see? He's a dreadful man."

Saunders was approaching from the lower end of the balcony. He appeared flustered. His face was red and perspiring and his manner distraught.

"Well, Saunders?" said Deppingham as the lawyer stopped to clear his throat obsequiously.

"I have found sufficient food of all descriptions, sir, to last for a month at least," said Saunders in a strained, unnatural voice.

"Have a cigarette, Deppy?" interposed Browne, seeing that something was amiss with Saunders. In solemn order the silver box went the rounds.

Saunders spoke up, as if suddenly recollecting something. "I have to report, sir, that the stock of cigarettes is getting very low. They can't last three days at this rate, sir."

The three men stared at him.

"Good Lord!" exclaimed Chase, who could face any peril and relish the experience if needs be, but who now foresaw a sickening deprivation. "You can't mean it, Saunders!"

"I certainly do, sir. The mint is holding out well, though, sir. I think it will last."

"By George, that is a calamity!" groaned Chase. "How is a man to fight without cigarettes?"

Geneva quietly proffered the one she had not lighted, a quizzical smile in her eyes.

"My contribution to the cause," she said gayly. "What strange creatures men are! You will go out and be shot at all day and yet—She paused and looked at the cigarette as if it were entitled to reverence.

"It does seem a bit silly, doesn't it?" lamented the stalwart Chase. Then he took the cigarette.

The Ostrich.

That ostriches hide their heads in the sand and think that their bodies are thereby hidden seems to be pure myth, says The London Times. Old birds on the nest and young birds when seeking to evade notice squat close to the ground and stretch their necks out flat on the sand. In the case of the young, which harmonizes as perfectly with their sandy surroundings as young ringed plover do with the stones on a beach, the ruse is said to render them almost invisible, and on the wide expanses of the desert it is evident that the upright neck of a sitting bird would render it unnecessarily conspicuous to a marauding enemy. But there is no more ground for accusing the ostrich of "self illusion" than there is for bringing the same charge against the partridge chick, which by merely sitting still among the grass practically disappears from sight.

The Timber Census.

The census of the forest products of Canada, to be taken on 1st June, 1911, will embrace square, fancy or flat timber, logs for lumber and miscellaneous products.

In the first class are included ash, birch, elm, maple, oak, pine and all other timber cut as square, fancy or flat, and in the enumeration will be reported for cubic feet and value.

Logs for lumber, which are included in the second class, are in such woods as elm, hickory, hemlock, oak, pine and spruce. They will be enumerated in the census by quantities of 1,000 feet board measure, with value in the same unit.

Coughs Up a Lizard.

A rare case occurred at Brantford recently. Reginald Duckworth, stepson of Adam Aird, who has been very ill, during a heavy coughing attack brought up a three-inch lizard. Duckworth is recovering rapidly.

Area of Japan.

The area of Japan is 148,000 square miles—about 10,000 square miles less than the area of the single state of California. It would take twenty-five Japanese to equal the area of the United States.

THE NEXT CENSUS.

The Counting of 1911 Will Cover a Wide Field.

The next census of Canada will be taken under date of June 1, 1911, and will embrace the subjects of population, mortality, agriculture, manufactures, minerals, fisheries and dairy products.

Population will be recorded under the heads of residence and personal description, citizenship, nationality and religion; profession, occupation and trade or means of living; wage-earnings and insurance; education and language spoken, and infirmities. Every person living on 1st June will be entered on the schedule of population by name, as member of a family, institution or household, together with place of habitation, sex, relationship to head of family or household, and whether single, married, widowed, divorced or legally separated. The month of birth, year of birth and age at last birthday will also be recorded.

Entries will be made for each person to show the country or place of birth, year of immigration to Canada, if born elsewhere, year of naturalization if formerly an alien, and also racial or tribal origin, nationality and religion. Every person of alien birth who has become a naturalized citizen is a Canadian by nationality; and every British subject with residence in Canada, as well as every native of Canada who has acquired citizenship by birth or naturalization, is also a Canadian by nationality. But there is no Canadian by racial or tribal origin, unless the Indians are so counted.

Every person having an occupation or trade will be entered for it, but if employed in the census year at some other occupation for part or whole time he will be so recorded also. If the person is working on own account, the entry will be so made. An entry is also required to be made showing where the person is employed, as farm, in woolen mill, at foundry shop, in drug store, etc.

Wage earners are entered to show the number of weeks employed in 1910 at chief occupation or trade; at other than chief occupation if any; the hours of working time per week at chief occupation, or at other occupation, if any; the total earnings in 1910 at chief occupation; the total earnings at other than chief occupation; and the rate per hour when employed by the hour.

Entries are required to be made for each person showing the amount of insurance held at date of the census upon life, as well as against accident or sickness, together with the cost of such insurance in the census year.

Under the heading of education and language, records will be taken for every person of five years of age and over showing the number of months at school in 1910, and if the person can read and write, and the language commonly spoken by each person. The cost of education in 1910 for persons over 16 years of age at college, convent or university is also called for.

The last question on the schedule of population relates to infirmities. It calls for a record of each person having an infirmity. If blind, deaf and dumb, crazy or lunatic, idiotic or silly, a record thereof will be made in the proper column, and the age at which the infirmity appeared is required to be specified.

Hays' Lesson In Diligence.

The anecdote anent C. M. Hays, president of the G.T.R., which is given below, is going the rounds of the Canadian press, and is used quite properly as a counsel to diligence in young men.

Charles Melville Hays was in the passenger department of the Atlantic and Pacific Railway at St. Louis when he was not much over 17. One day Mr. Talmage, vice-president and general manager of the Gould roads, entered the room. It was a little before lunch hour, and half the clerks were putting on their coats. Others were looking at their watches and leaving for the wash-room. In the general commotion of breaking up there were a few who were still busy, and among them was young Hays. Talmage approached him and asked the time of day. The young man did not hear, and Talmage put a hand on his desk, repeating the question. Hays looked up, surprised to see the chief at his elbow.

"I beg your pardon, were you speaking to me?" he asked.

"Merely asked the time—that was all," said Talmage.

Hays glanced about the room until his eyes rested on the office clock and said:

"It's eleven fifty."

"Thank you," said the general manager, strolling out.

It was directly after that conversation that Talmage picked Hays out as his private secretary and confidential clerk. The fact that Hays was thinking more about his work than about breaking away had impressed the general manager in a most favorable way.

One of "Q's" Stories

Mr. Quiller Couch, the novelist, was recently presenting certificates to the members of an ambulance class at Fowey. "Years ago," he said, "an old Cornish fisherman at a similar class was asked how he would treat the apparently drowned. 'Well,' he replied, 'the first thing we always did was to empty the man's pockets!'"

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON XII.—THIRD QUARTER,
FOR SEPT. 18, 1910

Text of the Lesson, Matt. xxii, 15-22, 34-46—Memory Verses, 37-39—Golden Text, Matt. xxii, 21—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

This lesson is found in Matthew, Mark and Luke and tells how by the Herodians and Sadducees and Pharisees they sought to entangle Him in His talk. Luke says that they sent forth spies who should feign themselves just men that they might take hold of His words that so they might deliver Him unto the power and authority of the governor (Luke xx, 20.) Consider who He was and who they were. See the Creator watched, criticised, hated, rejected by the creatures whom He had made and to whom He gave life and health and all things, and yet He patiently suffers it and would love and bless them if they would only let Him.

The flattering words of verse 16 are nothing new, for we read in Ps. lxxviii, 36, "They did flatter Him with their mouth, and they lied unto Him with their tongues, for their heart was not right with Him."

But He, being full of compassion, forgave their iniquity and destroyed them not. As He perceived their wickedness and asked for a piece of money and from it answered their question they marvelled at Him and held their peace and left Him and went their way (verse 22, with Mark and Luke). Do you covet such wisdom, not that you may be wondered at, but that He may be glorified? If so, remember that Stephen was so filled with faith and power that they were not able to resist the wisdom and the spirit by which he spoke (Acts vi, 8, 10). It is indeed true what they said of Jesus at this time, "Thou regardest not the person of men," so that we also may be filled with His spirit and wisdom if we will. It ought to be said of every teacher, "Thou art true and teachest the way of God in truth, neither carnest thou for any man" (verse 16), for it is also written by the Spirit that our attitude should always be "not as pleasing men, but God, who trieth our hearts." And again, "If I yet pleased men I should not be the servant of Christ" (I Thess. ii, 4; Gal. i, 10). When questions arise about the right or wrong of this or that, let us first ask, Whose image do I bear? and that ought to settle it easily. As the redeemed of the Lord, the world, the flesh and the devil have no just claim upon us, and it is our privilege gladly to render all to God, whose we are. They left Him and went their way (verse 22). We are too apt to do this. Let our prayer be, "Teach me Thy way, O Lord, and lead me in a plain path be cause of mine enemies" (Ps. xlvii, 11).

The same day came the Sadducees with a question which they thought would perplex Him, but His reply to them was, "Ye do err, not knowing the Scriptures nor the power of God" (verse 29). Dr. Schofield's note is worth quoting: "Jesus' answer gives the three incapacities of the rationalist—self deception (Rom. i, 21-22), ignorance of the spiritual content of Scripture (Acts xiii, 27), disbelief in the intervention of divine power (II Pet. iii, 5)." Note how our Lord emphasizes the great truth of resurrection (30-32) and see the plain teaching of Job ix, 25, 27; Isa. xxvi, 19; Dan. xii, 2, etc. See also how our Lord says that Ex. iii, 15, teaches not only life apart from the body, and note how He indorses the story of the burning bush, which is today ridiculed by the wisdom of this world (Mark xii, 26; Luke xx, 37). In verse 31, in the words "Have ye not read that which was spoken unto you by God?" we have our Lord's indorsement of Rom. xv, 4, "Whatsoever things were written aforetime were written for our learning." Unless we hear God speaking to our souls as we read His word we have not read with profit and should read until His word takes hold of us with power. In verse 30 His word that in the resurrection we shall be "as the angels," or, as in Luke, "equal unto the angels," is explained by His saying concerning marriage.

The next tempter is a lawyer scribe who wants to know which is the first or great commandment in the law. To him Jesus quotes Deut. vi, 4, 5; Lev. xix, 18, summing up the Ten Commandments in love to God and to man and adding, "On these two commandments hang all the law and the prophets" (verse 40). "There is none other commandment greater than these" (Mark xii, 31). Mark records the scribe's reply to Jesus and that Jesus said to him, "Thou art not far from the kingdom of God." He seemed to understand the truth, but went away to continue to establish his own righteousness, not submitting to the righteousness of God (Rom. x, 2-4). As to this summary of the law see also Rom. xiii, 8-10.

And now Jesus has a question for the Pharisees as to whose Son the Messiah is to be, to which they promptly reply, "The Son of David." Then come from our Lord the quotation from Ps. ex, and the question, How can He be David's Son since David by the Spirit calls Him Lord? No one could answer, and this shut them up for the present. As a man Jesus was of the house of David (Rom. i, 3). As God He was David's Lord—truly a man, truly God, both the root and the offspring of David (Rev. xxii, 16).

What a woman likes about a tower of false hair is it's so natural for her to be artificial.

ALBERTA'S FINE EXHIBIT

EXCITES COMMENT AT CANADIAN NATIONAL EXHIBITION

Excellent Display of Threshed Grain, Showing Big Yields of Wheat and Oats from Various Districts in Northern and Southern Alberta—Proof that Crops are Good, Despite the Small Rainfall this Year.

Toronto.—One of the most interesting agricultural exhibits at the Canadian National exhibition is the Alberta government exhibit in the east wing of the Horticultural building. The wall is beautifully decorated with sheaves of varieties of grain, as well as tame and native grasses. A most interesting new feature in connection with this exhibit is the grand display of threshed grains. There are six acre yields shown, and while they are not the largest yields that could have been shown, they are such that visitors must be convinced of the wonderful grain-growing possibilities of the province of Alberta.

There are two yields of oats shown. One acre of "Abundance," grown by J. C. Hill and sons, of Lloydminster, which yielded 97 measured bushels per acre, and weighs 6 pounds per bushel, and one yield of "Banner" oats, grown by Robert McKay, of Blackfalds, yielding 85 bushels by measure per acre and 44 pounds per bushel.

One yield of 60 bushels and 21 pounds of winter wheat is shown, grown by Arthur Perry, at Cardston, and it weighs 66 pounds per bushel. Pawson brothers, of Coaldale, sent an acre yield of spring wheat, which went 38 bushels to the acre, and weighs 65 pounds per bushel. The most remarkable feature of this grain exhibit is the excellent quality of the grain. A large number of the samples shown are the growth of 1910, and show clearly that the crops in Alberta are fairly good, even with the small rainfall of this year, and that in a large portion of the province the crops are excellent this year.

In the centre of the exhibit an Indian tepee is shown, from the Sarcee reserve, southern Alberta. It is just as it appeared when purchased at the reserve, and is of great interest to the thousands of visitors who see it every day.

Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture for Alberta, is personally supervising the exhibit, and has E. L. Richardson, manager of the provincial exhibition at Calgary, in charge. F. W. Brown, publicity agent at Toronto, whose office is at 127 Front street, and C. R. McCutcheon, his assistant, are also assisting with the exhibit.

After the close of the Toronto exhibition the Alberta exhibit will be erected at Spokane, Washington, for the dry farming congress.

AUTO TRIP TO NORTH

Cagary Party Will Go Up to the Peace River Crossing—Will Start This Week

Calgary.—G. C. Middaugh is starting this week on a remarkable automobile trip, in company with his wife and three friends from the States. They are going to drive across from Edmonton, via the Swan hills' trail to Grouard at the head of Lesser Slave lake, and will then go on to Peace River Crossing where they will winter before proceeding further.

This will be the first automobile to reach this far north and Mr. Middaugh and party will do a remarkable thing if they succeed as well as they hope. The astonishment of the breeds and natives when they see the buzz wagon will be something well worth witnessing.

The aim of the party is to eventually locate in any part of the Peace River country that most appeals to them.

Mr. Middaugh is carrying with him enough gasoline for about 2,000 miles, and figures he will have enough to carry him to the north country and back again. This is not the first time he and Mrs. Middaugh have ventured into strange and little known corners of the land. They went all through Mexico by pack trail, and they have been through the Hudson Bay country together, so the little jaunt to the north will not be a hard one at all.

FLIGHT ACROSS OCEAN COMING

Aeroplanes Will Soon Rival the Big Liners, is the Opinion of Graham-White

Boston, Mass.—That airship passage across the Atlantic Ocean will soon rival that of the liners, is the opinion of Claude Graham-White, the noted English aviator, who is here to compete in several American meets.

"The possibilities of the aeroplane are beyond the wildest dreams of fancy," he said. "I am becoming more and more impressed with this fact every day. Practical? Why, they will become the most practical thing in the world in a few years. Just as soon as the automatic control is established and that can be accomplished at any time by means of a pendulum, any one can handle the aeroplane."

Alberta Captured Gold Medal

Edmonton.—The Alberta government at the national exposition at Toronto has captured the gold medal offered by the exposition for the best, exclusively, Western exhibit on the grounds. This advice was received by wire by Premier Sifton from Hon. Duncan Marshall, minister of agriculture, who is attending the fair.

FISHERY COMMISSION MEET

Saskatchewan Men Give Evidence in Regard to Conditions in That Province

Regina.—The first meeting of the Royal commission appointed to enquire into the fisheries of Saskatchewan and Alberta was held here under the chairmanship of Professor E. E. Prince, of Ottawa, the other members of the commission being ex-Chief Justice McGuire, of Prince Albert, and Dr. Euston Sisley, of Calgary. The chairman, in opening the proceedings, expressed the hope that the commission, which was first appointed with large powers to investigate, would result in the gathering of such information as would enable them to make recommendations to Ottawa which would be in the interest of the western fisheries generally.

The first witness heard was Dr. Low, of Regina, president of the Saskatchewan Game Protection association, who advocated the introduction of black bass in the interests of sportsmen.

Mr. Van Valkenburg, secretary of the association also gave evidence, and was followed by T. N. Willing, late chief of the provincial game and weed branch, and Chas. Benjafield, who gave their experience of fishing in Long Lake, extending over a period of thirty years.

The most interesting evidence given during the day was that of Dr. Charlton, provincial bacteriologist, who submitted analyses of the various lakes and rivers of the province with a view to showing their adaptability or otherwise for fish cultivation.

Ald. Peverett, of Regina, and J. B. Morrison, of Long Lake, also gave evidence. The commission will visit Long Lake and the smaller lakes in the Last Mountain district, near Strassburg before proceeding to Saskatoon.

ALBERTA TO FIGHT FOR PRIZE

Intend to Win the Dry Farming Exposition Cup Known as "World's Trophy."

Spokane.—The province of Alberta, Canada, is going to make a strong attempt this year to carry away from the Dry Farming exposition the cup known as the "World's Trophy." This cup has been won the last two years by Colorado, and is always a source of strong contention by states and provinces.

Six states and one Canadian province reserved space for exhibits at dry farming headquarters recently. Alberta has asked to have set aside an additional space of 72x8 feet, which will be sufficient to display carloads of dry farming products. The granting of this space makes a total of 184 lineal feet for Alberta display.

Riverside, Cal., is contemplating the making of an exhibit and sending a large delegation. The citizens have called a public meeting to organize a local dry farming organization to boost the movement and plan to send representative delegates.

The commercial club of Baker City, Ore., reports that great interest is being aroused there in the congress. The club will decide at its next meeting regarding the sending of a delegation and a district exhibit of dry farm products to both the exposition and the interstate fair.

MACLEOD HAS NO. 1 HARD

Yield Not Large Compared With Other Years, but Sample Is Excellent

MacLeod.—Harvesting is almost done, a large portion of the threshing is done and the farmers can be seen bringing number one hard to the market every morning.

While the yield has not been large, the quality is first-class and there has not been a second rating yet by the grain men of the town.

We have had a considerable amount of rain in the last week which will help the roots and the fall wheat. Rain has fallen for several days and every team in the south country is busy plowing for the crop next year.

KENORA LOCAL TRAIN WRECKED

Towerman, Who Was Drunk on Duty, is in Winnipeg Jail, Pending Inquiry

Winnipeg.—Because Towerman Leland, at Wood's siding, on the Canadian Pacific railway, seven miles east of here, was drunk on duty, the Kenora local was derailed. The engine, baggage car and three passenger coaches left the rails and Fireman S. Pattison, of Winnipeg, was killed, while Engineer T. Elliott, of Winnipeg, was injured in the back and leg. Both men jumped.

The passengers escaped with a severe shaking up. Pattison, who leaves a wife and child, had only moved here a month ago from Fort William.

Leland is under arrest in the city jail, pending the result of an inquiry.

Report on Development of Brazeau

Vancouver.—W. L. Coulsen, director and manager of mines for the Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir), Ltd., left recently for Edmonton with Wm. Mackenzie, president of the C.N.R., for the purpose of visiting the Brazeau coal fields, west of Edmonton, and to report on a plan of development. Mackenzie and Mann interests have acquired large holdings in that district, to which a branch of the C.N.R. will be extended. During his recent visit in London Mackenzie raised $7,000,000 for this. The coal is bituminous, and well adapted for cooking and steaming purposes.

RESULTS OF AWARD

CANADA WINS IN THE MOST IMPORTANT POINTS

Award Disposes of the American Contention that the Hudson Bay is Not a Closed Sea—The Greatest Satisfaction is Expressed Over the Result of the Hague Decision on the North Atlantic Fisheries Case.

Ottawa.—The cabled digest of The Hague decision on the North Atlantic fisheries case, in press despatches recently, is received with much satisfaction by officials of the government conversant with the large issues at stake so far as Canada is concerned.

The finding of the tribunal in favor of the British contentions on questions one and five means, practically, that from the Canadian standpoint by far the most important rights contended for have been won.

According to Mr. J. S. Ewart, K.C., Canadian counsel before the tribunal, nine-tenths of the whole argument was on these two points. The loss of the British case on other points at issue is comparatively unimportant, except in so far as Newfoundland is locally affected by the decision. The right of Canada to make fisheries regulations binding on all foreign fishermen in the territorial waters is established, and territorial waters, according to the finding on question five, are defined as being three miles outside a line drawn from headland to headland. This means that Canada's jurisdiction over all large bays is established by international law. The decision is taken to mean that Canada will now be enabled to assert her right to control the fisheries in Juan De Fuca Straits and at other points along the British Columbia coast.

It also disposes of the American contention that the Hudson Bay is not a closed sea, exclusively under Canadian jurisdiction. The full text of the award is, of course, not yet available, but according to cabled summaries the result, as noted above, is regarded here as a far-reaching victory for Canada.

SETTLERS WILL NEED SUPPLIES

Supplies Accidentally Burned and Steamers Cannot Navigate the Fraser River

Victoria.—A serious situation in the Nechaco country is reported in advices just to hand from Fort George, which contain news that owing to the failure of steamers to navigate Fraser Lake, many of the settlers are already sorely in need of staple supplies, while the situation in regard to the winter is even more alarming. The shortage of stores in the Nechaco Valley is accentuated by the fact that a large quantity of supplies was accidentally burned not long ago while waiting transportation. It is understood that special efforts will be put forth by the business interests of Fort George to cope with the present situation, although it is not improbable that the government may also be asked to assist.

The positive assurance of the completion of the Blackwater road before the advent of winter, to furnish a dependable link of communication with the outside world, would greatly relieve the anxieties of interested settlers. This road the Hon. Thos. Taylor some time ago gave orders should be rushed forward with the least possible delay, difficulty in obtaining sufficient labor being the reason for its non-completion ere this.

TRYING TO CONVICT CRIPPEN

British Crown Prosecutors Are Slowly Unravelling a Chain of Evidence Against Him

London.—The crown prosecutors are slowly unravelling a chain of evidence with which they expect to convict Dr. Hawley H. Crippen of the murder of his wife, the music hall singer, Belle Elmore, with Ethel Leneve as accessory after the fact. It was expected that important medical testimony would be given early in the court proceedings, but its presentation has been delayed until the counsel for the defence have had an opportunity of viewing the remains. The trial has therefore been adjourned until September 14.

RAILWAY WORK GOES ON

Pincher Creek, Cardston and Montana Work Has Not Been Impeded

Calgary.—P. C. Culbert, secretary of the Pincher Creek, Cardston and Montana, states that the company's operations have not been hampered by any official neglect on the part of any member of the Alberta government. Action was not deferred owing to any neglect on the part of the government and the premier has rendered them every assistance.

Niobe is Dry Boat Too

Portsmouth.—The Canadian cruiser Niobe is like the cruiser Rainbow in one respect, in that it possesses no grog tub. Engineer Lieut. E. C. Bartlett for special service, and acting engineer Sub-Lieut. H. J. M. Henry have been appointed to the Niobe.

Mackenzie King Honored

The Hague.—Hon. Mackenzie King, Canadian Minister of Labor, has been appointed one of the vice-presidents of the permanent international committee on social insurance.

C. N. R. ENCOUNTERS TROUBLE

Plans for Line from St. Albert West Have Been Disapproved by the Railway Commission

Winnipeg.—The Canadian Northern railway is again balked in its efforts to locate a line west from Edmonton towards the Yellowhead Pass. Plans for the line from St. Albert west have been disapproved by the railway commission at Ottawa, on the ground that the route proposed lay too close to that of the Grand Trunk Pacific. Engineers first endeavored to run farther north but could not do so on account of the hilly nature of the country. It was decided, therefore, to parallel the G.T.P. route from Lobstick to Yellowhead Pass.

Unless the C.N.R. can convince the railway commission of the necessity for running parallel to the G.T.P. material change in the plans will be required. It is probable that the C.N.R. may find it necessary to run south of the Grand Trunk.

The C.N.R. was compelled once before to abandon the line west of Edmonton, even after a good deal of construction work had been done. On that occasion the G. T. P. beat them out in the matter of filing and securing approval of route plans. Interesting and vigorous representations are to be made to the railway commission on behalf of the C.N.R. In the meantime work on the line west of St. Albert is under contract with the Alberta government to build a certain distance this year.

WILL STAND NO CRITICISM

Bring Proof to Show That Mr. Osler Was Wrong in His Statements

Winnipeg, Man.—The Centennial Exposition directors met recently and contradicted in strong terms the statement made by E. B. Osler, M.P., of Toronto, that the holding of the 1914 exposition would be unwise for Winnipeg. Mr. Osler's statements regarding business conditions in Seattle since their fair was met by the strongest denial possible in a telegram the directors received from Seattle Chamber of Commerce, which quoted increased bank clearings, building permits and population, since the close of their exposition.

The directors showed that Winnipeg was favorably situated to handle the exposition to the advantage of all Canada, and in a broad comprehensive statement pointed out that the 1914 exposition was not a local, but an all-Canadian one and would be of national benefit.

The business men behind the project had made closest investigations everywhere and had raised one million dollars locally to its support. Surprise was expressed in business circles here upon Mr. Osler's knowledge of the subject, which he gave in an interview, in view of his capacity as a member of the Canadian Pacific railway board, who have already made liberal advances to the preliminary fund and who have expressed themselves willing to contribute $500,000 in cash to the exposition.

CZAR HAD NARROW ESCAPE

Strangers Push Their Way Almost Into the Presence of Autocratic Ruler

Berlin.—A daring attempt has been made upon the lives of the Czar and his family, according to dispatches received here from Friedberg. The Imperial family is at the castle of the Grand Duke of Hesse. Two strangers wearing the uniform of the Eighty-eighth Infantry, succeeded in getting through the outer line of detectives, but failed to pass the inner line of sentries, not having the password. They were stopped, and investigation proved that they did not belong to the army. It is believed they are agents of the Russian revolutionary party.

NO CHANCE FOR OLD MEN

G.T.R. Officials State That No More Passenger Men Will Be Reinstated

London, Ont.—There is a big stir here among G. T. R. strikers over the statement made by prominent railway officials that no more passenger men will be reinstated. Superintendent Bowker, when asked, said that as the strike breakers continued to give satisfaction and they wanted to remain with the company there would be no chance of the old men coming back.

Changing Policy of Hudson Bay Stores

London.—Commissioner Chipman, of Winnipeg, is now in London discussing the question of the re-organization of the company's store system. This is the central feature in the policy of the deputy governor, Mr. Skinner, and the new majority in control of the stock. Hudson Bay shares advanced to £100 this week.

Investiture of Prince of Wales

London.—For the first time in hundreds of years, the investiture of the Prince of Wales will take place in Wales. After a keen competition between Cardiff and Carnarvon for the honor, the king has decided in favor of Carnarvon. The ceremony will occur in July.

Proposed Memorial to King Edward

London.—The Earl of Plymouth proposes that the Crystal Palace should be made an empire centre at a cost of £750,000 as a memorial to King Edward VII. Among his suggestions is that the overseas dominions should erect permanent pavilions there for exhibition purposes.

TO EXPLOIT WHALING

CANADIAN CAPITAL WILL NOW BE INVESTED

Stated that Mackenzie & Mann are Behind a Project to Despatch Four Vessels from Vancouver in the Spring to Engage in Arctic Whaling—Canadian Rights in Arctic Regions Will Now be Asserted.

Vancouver, B. C.—Representing themselves as acting in the interests of Mackenzie and Mann, Colonel Davidson and D. A. McRae, millionaires of Winnipeg and Vancouver, are planning to exploit the Arctic whaling.

Two steamers and two sailing ships will be dispatched to the Arctic regions next spring, from Vancouver, when a station will be established on the mainland, or on one of the many groups of islands.

The entire country east of the boundary line of Alaska and the Dominion and extending to the North Pole is wholly within British territory. It embraces a vast archipelago, notice of ownership of which has been proclaimed to the world by Canada, through the British foreign office.

In the summer months the waters adjacent to the mainland, including the estuary at the mouth of the Mackenzie river, are open and can be navigated by sea-going vessels. This has been demonstrated by the success of American whalers, which has been poaching in these British waters for nearly twenty years.

The action of the owners in importing goods for trading purposes, as well as liquor, resulted, several years ago, in the Dominion government establishing a mounted police station as well as a customs officer on Herschell island, the rendezvous of the fleet. The vigilance of the authorities was rewarded by the collection of thousands of dollars of revenue, as well as the suppression of illicit sale of intoxicants, which was demoralizing the Eskimo.

It will be interesting to see what policy the Dominion government will adopt in this northern water, now that Canadian capital is about to exploit the industry. There is no doubt but that the Americans who have enjoyed a monopoly heretofore can be warned not to invade Canadian territorial waters if the Ottawa authorities assert their rights.

BETTER CLASS OF IMMIGRANTS

Proposed Immigrants Altogether Different to the Italians That Have Come in the Past

Edmonton.—There is a movement now on foot by the Italian government at Rome to locate thousands of Italian farmers and agriculturists of the best class on the untenanted lands of Western Canada.

The promoter of the movement, Signor E. Rossi, commissioner of the Italian department of emigration at Rome, is in Edmonton. He has just completed an extensive tour of Canada, made on behalf of the government for the purpose of gaining information on the country, which will be distributed among the farmers of Italy, who are contemplating emigration.

Not a small part of Signor Rossi's mission in Western Canada is to overcome the deep rooted prejudice that exists against the Italian immigrant.

Signor Rossi overcomes this prejudice by explaining that this class of immigrants is not the class that is being sent over by the Italian government. The class with which his government is dealing and which they will endeavor to supply Canada is that class of thrifty Italian farmers and market gardeners that occupy the vast fertile lands of northern Italy. There are a fair haired, industrious class that make peaceable citizens, who now barely eke out an existence on the overcrowded lands on which they have lived for generations, but who, according to Signor Rossi, could make a fortune out of an acre of land in Western Canada.

BYE-ELECTIONS ON OCTOBER 3

Report of Royal Commission Investigating A. & G. W. Will Not Be Published Until House Meets

Edmonton.—The bye-elections in Gleichen and Macleod have been set for Monday, October 3.

W. W. Brown, of Strathmore, has been appointed returning officer for Gleichen. Joseph Spenson has been appointed returning officer for Macleod.

The Provincial legislature has been summoned to meet in Edmonton on Thursday, November 3.

The Royal Commission to investigate the A. & G. W. transaction will complete its report by that time and it will be placed before the house without previous publication.

Premier Sifton will speak in both bye-elections. His first address will be in Macleod on Friday night. He will be accompanied by W. A. Buchanan, of Lethbridge.

Build Big Railway

Melbourne.—Hon. Andrew Fisher, in the course of the budget speech announced the intention of the government to construct a transcontinental railway to cost £4,000,000. He extended a cordial welcome to British immigrants.

TROCHU NEWS

From the Trochu Times

Fall Fair September 21

At a meeting of the Trochu Agricultural Society, on Saturday Sept 10 the secretary, L C Eckenfelder was authorized to expend what money he may think advisable on the necessary preparations for the show ring and enclosure.

A social meeting was held last week to make all final arrangements in regard to the attractions to be provided for the fair.

It is to be hoped that a special effort will be made on the part of every business man of the village to lend his personal assistance with a view of making the fall fair attractive and successful. It is not sufficient to merely contribute financially towards the fair; the personal effort and help of every business man is required.

Let every farmer and rancher of the district be in Trochu on September 21 with as many entries for the ring as possible.

Marriages

McLEOD-STEWART

The marriage took place in Didsbury on Tuesday Aug 30 between John McLeod of Trochu and Jane Stewart, the daughter of Avondale Ranch, the Rev Marshall officiating. A big reception was held at the brides home on Friday evening September 2nd, a large number of relatives and friends being present. On the same evening the wedding party adjourned to the home of Mr. John McLeod where another delightful reception was held.

De Troquat-de Beaudrap

The Roman Catholic church at Trochu was the scene of a fashionable wedding Friday, day Sept 9th when Miss Madeline de Beaudrap, was married to Francois de Trochu of Trochu by the Rev Father P Bazin. The fair bride was given away by her brother Pierre de Beaudrap. A large number of relatives and friends were present at the ceremony.

A large number of cases of typhoid fever have been reported during the past month and the situation is becoming somewhat serious.

Walter Elliot, who has been working for T Theodoli at the implement agency during the summer, left for Didsbury last week.

The New Hospital

Excavating was commenced last week on the new Trochu Hospital and construction work on the building itself will be started this fall. The hospital which will be the property of the Sisters of Evron will occupy a high and commanding position and when complete will be one of the largest and best equipped in the province.

A large modern hospital of this description will be of immense benefit to the town as well as a very important advantage. Its construction will entail an enormous expenditure of money and a little assistance which the residents of the district without inconvenience to themselves can afford will be of great value. We would suggest for instance, that farmers who have good gravel or stone on, or near, their properties might bring in a small load when they come to town for the foundations of the building. A contribution of that description would be of very great assistance to those who have to face the financial burden of the hospital building, and it would also show a very good public spirit. We hope, therefore, that farmers who are in a position to assist the good Sisters in this way will, when the opportunity presents itself do so.

Wheat has dropped steadily. Reports from Europe show that the crop in Russia and France is very small. In England the damage to the harvest through wet weather is estimated at $50,000,000. The poor crops in Europe will undoubtedly have the effect of greatly increasing the price of wheat. Flax is still on the increase.

It is understood that the drug store will be opened in Trochu shortly. Mr Creighton, who at one time intended to open a store here, has been suffering from very bad health and will be unable to carry out his original intentions for some time to come; but he hopes to be influential in getting someone to take his place meanwhile.

Mr and Mrs C I Pearson moved into town last week for the winter months.

Hunter & Brown drove their big bunch of cattle from Red Deer to their ranch near Olds this week.

CRIPPLED BY RHEUMATISM

Suffered Tortures Until "Fruit-a-tives"
Took Away The Pain.

"Fruit-a-tives," the famous fruit medicine, is the greatest and most scientific remedy ever discovered for Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives," by its marvellous action on the bowels, kidneys and skin, prevents the accumulation of Uric Acid, which causes Rheumatism and thereby keeps the blood pure and rich.

Mrs. Walter Hooper, of Hillview, Ont., says: "I suffered from severe Rheumatism, lost the use of my right arm and could not do my work. Nothing helped me until I took 'Fruit-a-tives' and this medicine cured me."

If you are subject to Rheumatism, don't wait until a severe attack comes on before trying "Fruit-a-tives." Take these fruit tablets now and thus prevent the attacks.

"Fruit-a-tives" is sold by all dealers at 50c a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial box, 25c, or may be obtained from Fruit-a-tives, Limited, Ottawa.

POOR JOAN OF ARC.

Some Hitches That Have Hampered Pageants.

If pageants have done nothing else, they have given rise to a new proverb. That "Every pageant has its hitch" has developed into quite a by-word, and is a statement anyone who has been connected with these twentieth-century innovations will readily corroborate.

Only the other day the Army Pageant contributed its quota. As Joan of Arc, Mrs. Hohler had just finished leading her French knights at the charge, and was about to pass out of the exit, when the large white horse on which she was seated plunged, bringing its rider heavily to the ground. Her fall was made much worse by the weight of the armor she was wearing and the heavy banner which she carried. Her face cut, and considerably bruised, she had to be carried off the ground in an ambulance.

One of the incidents in the Bath Pageant last year reached an unexpected pitch of "realism." In the Akoman scene a Saxon had to rush up the temple steps, be stabbed by a lady-in-waiting, and roll from top to bottom of the steps. A slip caused the player to strike his head violently as he fell, rendering him temporarily unconscious; and what was thought to be an especially clever piece of acting was warmly applauded by the spectators!

Rain is the great bugbear of the pageant-maker, and the first performance of the Ilford Pageant had to be postponed owing to the downpour. Distinctions of class, creed, and country were forgotten while the early Briton, the haughty Roman, and the mediaeval courtier exchanged views on the unkindness of Fate, and the jester forgot to smile and joke in the process of disrobing. Queen Elizabeth, in the glory of robes of pearls, ruffe, and splendid garments, had to be hustled unceremoniously into a four-wheeled cab; while the harder knight of St. John donned a waterproof over his armor, and strode home.

At a local pageant in Norfolk, however, the players defied the weather. Despite a heavy downpour, they went through the whole performance under umbrellas, the spectacle of St. George and the Dragon in mortal conflict, each holding a "brolly" over his head, providing not the least entertaining feature.

Water also played an important part in an unrehearsed incident which occurred at the Oxford Pageant three years ago. The president of the Oxford University Dramatic Society, who was playing the part of Friar Bacon, had to leave the arena on a mediaeval motor-car resembling a dragon, and, after rounding behind the stand, cross the arena at full speed. On making the second entry, he failed to turn quickly enough, and plunged headlong into the river. He emerged unhurt, amid applause, with his beard washed off, and the car was recovered from the deep water a little later.

Probably no pageant has excited more interest or looked ominously like being stopped at the last moment than that of Coventry. A storm of indignation was aroused by the decision that La Milo should represent Lady Godiva, clad only in fleshings and a transparent gauze cloak. Residents were appalled at the news, and declared that the procession must not be tolerated; while the mayor threatened to resign. And, in the end, La Milo wore a dress heavier than that used by most horsewomen, together with a long-haired wig, weighing over 21-2 pounds, to cover it!

The "Pink Pyjama Girl."

This was the name bestowed upon that popular actress, Miss Pauline Chase, who wanted Mr. Grahame-White to take her up in his aeroplane recently, when she appeared some years ago in a play called "The Liberty Bells," in the course of which a number of girls appeared in a bedroom scene dressed in nightgowns. Miss Chase, however, had always been accustomed to pyjamas, and suggested to the management that they should let her appear in pyjamas, as she might feel strange and awkward in a nightgown.

"This was agreed to," says Miss Chase, "but at the dress rehearsal, when I came on in my pink pyjamas, I suddenly became excessively self-conscious. So much so that I scurried across the stage, jumped into the big bed which figured in the scene, pulled the clothes over my head, and in muffled but decided tones refused to 'come out.' This quite impromptu piece of business, however, produced roars of laughter, such as are rarely heard at a dress rehearsal, and the next night I had to repeat it, when it seemed just to tickle the audience to death, and in a few days' time I was known all over the country as the 'Pink Pyjama Girl!'"

When Melbourne Was Scared.

Melbourne has never seen any real fighting, but it has had several scares its people for a long time cherished the delusion that the Russians had designs upon their city. Twice Russian admirals dropped in there casually, took soundings and landed observation parties. Once the citizens were aroused from their beds in the small hours of the morning by cannon booming and rocket firing down the bay. "The Russians at last!" was the general cry. But it was only a too joyous British captain who had made a record passage from London.

One of the latest prominent gentlemen to speak highly in Zam-Buk's favour is Mr. C. E. Sanford of Weston, King's Co., N.S. Mr. Sanford is a Justice of the Peace for the County, and a member of the Board of School Commissioners. He is also Deacon of the Baptist Church in Berwick. Indeed it would be difficult to find a man more widely known and more highly respected. Here is his opinion of Zam-Buk. He says:—

"I never used anything that gave me such satisfaction as Zam-Buk. I had a patch of Eczema on my ankle which had been there for over 20 years. Sometimes also the disease would break out on my shoulders. I had applied various ointments and tried all sorts of things to obtain a cure, but in vain. Zam-Buk, unlike everything else I had tried, proved highly satisfactory and cured the ailment."

"I have also used Zam-Buk for itching piles, and it has cured them completely also. I take comfort in helping my brother men, and if the publication of my opinion of the healing value of Zam-Buk will lead other sufferers to try it, I should be glad. For the relief of suffering caused by Piles or Skin Disease as I know of nothing to equal Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk cures ulcers, abscesses, blood-poison, ring-worm, festering or running sores, bad leg, varicose ulcers, salt rheum, prairie itch, cuts, burns, bruises, baby's sores, etc. Purely herbal, 50c box, druggists and stores. Refuse imitations.

SUMMER TIME A TIME OF DANGER

Summer time is a time of danger to all babies—but more especially to those living in the towns and cities where the heat is so excessive as to make it almost impossible to keep baby's food in proper condition. It is then that the little one suffers from those stomach and bowel troubles that carry off so many precious little lives. During the summer the mother must be especially careful to keep baby's stomach sweet and pure and his bowels moving regularly. No other medicine will be of such great aid to mothers in summer as Baby's Own Tablets. These little Tablets never fail to regulate the bowels; sweeten the stomach and make baby well and happy. Mrs. D. Devlin, St. Sylvester East, Que., says: "I think Baby's Own Tablets are the best medicine for little ones for stomach and bowel troubles and I would not be without them." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The average woman would rather buy things than go shopping—but that takes money.
